

Daniel (Danny) Bren

Expertise in cyber defense and cryptography, as well as digital IT, web technologies and communication (terrestrial, cellular and satellite).

Over twenty five years of experience in research, development, system engineering, threat analysis, creating and tailoring proactive defensive solutions, construction and operation of systems and solutions for telecommunications.

Last Position

Brigadier General, first Military Joint Chief Cyber Defense officer, Head of C4I (J6) Force Buildup & Mission Support division, Head of CIO division (a.k.a. "Lotem").

EDUCATION

Electrical Engineering B.Sc. EE

Tel Aviv University, cum laude.

Electrical Engineering M.Sc. EE

Haifa Technion, cum laude.

Numerous courses, seminars and training in technology, business management.

Languages

Hebrew
English
Romanian

Other

Married with three children

Amateur marathon runner and road cyclist

Top Skills

Senior Leadership

- Over a decade of senior leadership and management in IDF's top Hi-tech units, responsible for hundreds of programs and projects, R&D, deployment and operations, executed by thousands of tech professionals in various verticals: Communications, EW/AJ, C4ISR systems, ERP, IT infrastructure, Web and cyber security technologies.
- Major ICT and cyber programs, IT Capex/Opex management, enterprise agreements and projects (B1.5 NIS annual).

Competitive Strategy

- Multi-disciplinary analysis of trends, opportunities and risks, covering external and internal technology, market, economy and operations.
- Formulating short and long term concepts, solutions and programs.

Technology and Engineering

- Over twenty five years of experience in research, development, system engineering, threat analysis (cyber), construction and operation of systems and solutions for telecommunications, cryptography and proactive defensive cyber.

Creativity, Innovation and Entrepreneurship

- Discovery and analysis of technology trends, consolidation platforms and processes for constructing enterprise groundbreaking initiatives, leading digital transformations.