Lokke Moerel is professor of global ICT law at Tilburg University (The Netherlands) and Senior Of Counsel with Morrison & Foerster (Berlin). She is a member of the Dutch Cyber Security Council (the advisory body of the Dutch cabinet on cybersecurity). Her work with large US tech giants on their strategic privacy and ethical issues has made her an expert on big data and artificial intelligence (AI). In 2016, she was appointed to be the co-author of the annual public advice to the Dutch government on behalf of the Dutch Lawyers Society (under auspices of the Dutch Supreme Court) on Big Data and the Internet of Things (http://ssrn.com/abstract=2784123).

Lokke is ranked as a leader in data protection law by Chambers Europe "She has a formidable reputation in the field of data protection, advising numerous blue-chip clients. She is doing market-leading work". In 2018 Lokke received the International Law Office Client Choice Award for Best Tech-lawyer Germany.

See for her 2017 Tedx talk on AI and Ethics: here.
See for recent publication on Algorithmic Accountability for AI applications: Oxford Business Law Blog.