

Michelle Spektor is a PhD candidate in the Doctoral Program for History, Anthropology, Science, Technology, and Society (HASTS) at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT), and a research associate at the Center for Cyber, Law and Policy (CCLP) at Haifa University.

Her dissertation research focuses on the social, political, and historical dimensions of national biometric identification systems in the 21st century.